McFarland's BURGLAR and FIRE PROOF SAFES!

THE undersigned would respectfully call the attention of the public to the above unequalled safeguard of property—proof against the devastating element of fire, as well as the most skilful burglar. To MERCHANTS, JEWELLERS, and BANK DIRECTORS, we would only say, examine them and the proofs, and you will be convinced of their superiority over all other manufacture.

Our business is done in a plain, straightforward way, without resorting to humbug or large talk.

Below is one of the many testimonials we are daily receiving from all parts of the country, and which speaks for itself. Messrs Pond, & Hitchcock's Oil Store was situated directly under the Pearl-st House and was totally consumed in that great fire of August 23d.

NEW YORK, Aug 25, 1853.

Messrs. Wm. McFarland & Co.,

Gents.—It affords us pleasure to inform you that the Fire and Burglar Proof Safe we purchased of you, preserved our books and papers, at the disastrous fire of the Pearl st House, last evening, in the most perfect manner. Although it was covered throughout the fire with burning Rosin, and other Oils and directly under a broken gas pipe, in the most intense heat it remained true to its name and its contents when taken out were not even scorched and hardly bore the smell of fire. To any one who is in want of a super or Safe, a perfect safeguard against fire we cheerfully recommend your manufacture, having had a personal evidence of their excellence. Yours truly,

B F POND & HITCHCOCK

HOT CORN.
Opinions of the Religious press

HENRY WARD BEECHER, in the New York Independent says—"Let it speed—May its numbers be as great as the leaves in summer. May thousands sit down under its shadow with delight and rise up refreshed and made kinder and better men. And may Solon Robinson live to write a hundred books more, each one better than the other."

The N Y Evangelist a leading Presbyterian paper says of these stories—"They evince a dramatic skill worthy of Dickens and powerfully appeal in behalf of the poor, vicious and down trodden on grounds which sound Christian morality and feeling cannot but approve of. Any thing more touching than The Little Hot Corn Girl or rather than most of these transcripts from the terrible realities of life, we have seldom encountered."

From the Methodist Protestant, Baltimore, Md.—"No man can read it who has a spark of philanthropy in his bosom without feeling a strong desire to do something for the poor and wretched to look with more compassionate glance upon the outcasts from society, and especially to seek to rescue from the atmosphere of vice those helpless and innocent children who are born in sin and nourished in iniquity."

From the Religious Recorder, Syracuse N Y—"Let the volume be read."

From the Religious Herald Hartford Conn.—"A great and good work will the circulation of this book effect."

CITY OF BANGOR.

AN ORDINANCE for the reorganization of the Fire Department.

SEC. 1. Be it ordained by the Mayor, Aldermen and Common Council of the City of Bangor, in City Council assembled, That the Fire Department shall consist of a Chief Engineer and of not less than three Assistant Engineers, and of three companies, each of which is to consist of forty men, and of such additional companies, as shall hereafter be established by the Mayor and Aldermen.

SEC. 2. Be it further ordained, That the Mayor and Aldermen shall from time to time form such additional Engine Companies in the various parts of the City may require, but no Company is to exceed forty men in number.

SEC. 3. Be it further ordained, That no person under the age of twenty-one years, shall be admitted into any company belonging to the Fire Department.

SEC. 4. Be it further ordained, That the Chief Engineer shall be elected annually by ballot in the month of March by the Council in convention, and at such other times as vacancies may occur.

SEC. 5. Be it further ordained, That the Chief Engineer shall have the power to appoint as many Assistant Engineers and designate their rank, subject to the approval of the Mayor and Aldermen, as there are Engine Companies.

SEC. 6. Be it further ordained, That the Engineers shall have, and exercise all the powers, and be subject to all the duties of Fire Wards.

SEC. 7. Be it further ordained, That the Chief Engineer shall appoint the Firemen, and shall have the power to discharge the same. But if any Fireman is aggrieved at his decision, he may appeal to the Board of Assistant Engineers who shall have power to reinstate him.

SEC. 8. Be it further ordained, That each Engine Company shall choose a Foreman, two Assistant Foremen, and a Clerk all of whom shall be confirmed by the Chief Engineer. Each Company shall also cause a roll of its members to be made and kept, and called after each fire, false alarm, and at each meeting of said Company, and note on said roll all who are absent.

SEC. 9. Be it further ordained, That each member of any company, who shall be absent from any Fire, False Alarm, or Meeting of said Company, unless for a satisfactory reason given to said Company, shall be fined as follows:—Absence from Fire, one dollar; absence from False Alarm when the roll is called, twenty-five cents; and absence from each meeting of said Company, twenty-five cents. The Clerk of each Company shall report quarterly to the Chief Engineer, all the absences of each member belonging to his company and what amount is due from each member, for fines.

SEC. 10. Be it further ordained, That the Chief Engineer shall be paid, annually, the sum of three hundred dollars, each Assistant Engineer, the sum of fifty dollars, and each Fireman the sum of twenty-five dollars, on the first Monday of January of each year. But any Fireman who shall serve for a less time than one year, shall be entitled only to such compensation as the Chief Engineer shall determine. The amount due from each member for fines, shall be deducted from the amount due for his services. And the sums thus deducted shall be kept by the City Treasurer in a separate fund to be called "Firemen's Relief Fund," to be used for the benefit of those members who may be injured at fires, and when needed, for that purpose, may be drawn from the Treasury by the Mayor, and appropriated as the Chief Engineer shall direct.

SEC. 11. Be it further ordained, That on the first Monday of May annually, at two of the clock in the afternoon, the Chief Engineer may order out all the Companies of the Department with their respective Engines, and other apparatus to exercise the members and no company shall appear with more than forty members.

SEC. 12. Be it further ordained, That it shall be the duty of the Engineers whenever any fire shall break out in the City to repair forthwith to or near the place where the fire may be, to cause the Engines and other apparatus to be arranged and worked in such manner as most effectually to extinguish the fire; to require and compel the assistance of all persons in extinguishing the fire, removing furniture, goods, or merchandise, from any building on fire or in danger thereof, and to appoint guards to secure the same, and in pulling down or demolishing any house or building, or suppressing tumults and disorder. And it shall be their duty to cause order to be preserved throughout the department in going to, working at and returning from fires, and at all times when companies attached to the department are on duty. And whenever any fire shall occur in either of the adjoining towns it shall be the duty of so many of said Engineers to repair to such towns as shall have been designated, for that purpose by said Board of Engineers.

SEC. 13. Be it further ordained, That in case of the absence of the Chief Engineer at any fire, the Engineer next in rank who may be present, shall possess his powers and perform his duties.

SEC. 14. Be it further ordained, That all persons who may be present at any fire shall obey the direction of any Engineer, and render their services in extinguishing the fire and protecting property exposed thereto, in such manner as they may be required to do by any Engineer, and every person who shall refuse or neglect so to do on request of said Engineer shall forfeit and pay to the city, the sum of Ten Dollars to be recovered in an action of debt in the name of the City Treasurer to the use of said City. And it shall be the duty of the Engineers to report to the Mayor and Aldermen, all such cases of refusal.

SEC. 15. Be it further ordained, That the Chief Engineer shall have the sole and entire control and command over all engineers and other persons attached to the Fire Department, shall direct all proper measures for the extinguishment of fires, and protection of property, preservation of order, and observance of the fire laws, ordinances and regulations. It shall be his duty to examine the condition of the Engines, and other Fire apparatus, Engine Houses, and other buildings used by the Fire Department, and all the reservoirs, weekly, to keep the reservoirs free from snow and ice during the winter, to superintend the building and repairing of all machines and buildings used in the Fire Department, and all the city reservoirs. It shall be his duty to see that the Engines and apparatus are always kept clean and in order for immediate use, that, on the return from fires, they are well washed, cleansed, and oiled, and securely housed. He shall keep fair and exact rolls of the respective Engine Companies, specifying the time of admission and discharge of each member, and report the same to the Mayor and Aldermen on the first Monday of January of each year, with the amount of fines due from each member. He shall report to the City Clerk once in each year all the accidents by fire which may have happened within the city, and the cause thereof, so far as it can be ascertained, and the number of buildings and the value of the property destroyed or injured, and the names of the owners, if known.

SEC. 16. Be it further ordained—That the City Council, by a concurrent vote, may remove either of said Engineers.

SEC. 17. Be it further ordained—That the Mayor and Aldermen may from time to time, form as many Hose, Hook and Ladder, Bucket and Fire Companies as they deem it expedient, to consist of such number of men each as they shall determine.

SEC. 18. Be it further ordained—That the Engineers and members of the several Companies shall wear such caps and badges as the Chief Engineer shall direct, and the Mayor and Aldermen furnish. They shall be furnished at the expense of the city, and remain the property of the city. No other person shall be permitted to wear similar caps and badges except under such restrictions and regulations as the Chief Engineer may direct.

SEC. 19. Be it further ordained, That it shall be the duty of the City Marshal and Constables of the city, on an alarm of fire, to repair forthwith to the place where the fire may be, with their staves or such other badge of office as the Mayor and Aldermen shall direct, and use their best exertions, under the direction of the commanding Engineer, to preserve the public peace, and to prevent theft and the destruction of property, and assist in the removal of all suspected persons, for which service the Constables shall receive such compensation as the Mayor and Aldermen may allow.

SEC. 20. Be it further ordained, That if any chimney, stove-pipe or flue, within the city shall take fire so as to cause an alarm of fire, the occupant of the house, in which such chimney, stove-pipe or flue appertains, or the person so setting the same on fire, shall forfeit and pay the sum of two dollars. Provided, however, it may be lawful for any person to set fire to his chimney, stove-pipe or flue, in the forenoon of any day, when the contiguous buildings are wet with rain, or covered with snow. And it shall be the duty of the Engineers to report to the Mayor and Aldermen the names of all persons liable to the penalty provided by this section.

SEC. 21. Be it further ordained, That the power of making and establishing rules and regulations for the transportation and safe keeping of gunpowder, within the city of Bangor, and granting licenses for the keeping and sale thereof, in the city, pursuant to the provisions of law, shall be exercised and performed by the Chief and other Engineers, and the power and duty of seizing any gunpowder kept or being within said city, or the harbor thereof, contrary to the provisions of law, shall be exercised and performed by said Engineers, or any one of them. And in case the seizure shall be made by any Engineer, other than the Chief, he shall forthwith report the same to the Chief Engineer, who shall cause said gunpowder to be libeled and prosecuted in the manner prescribed by law. And all the other powers and duties enjoined and granted by the laws of the State, in relation to the safe keeping and transportation of gunpowder, shall be exercised and performed by the said Chief and other Engineers.

SEC. 22. Be it further ordained, That whenever it shall be determined by two or more Engineers, or by the majority of any greater number of Engineers present, at any fire, to pull down or demolish any building which may be on fire, or which it may be necessary to remove to prevent the spread of the fire, the same may be done by their joint order.

SEC. 23. Be it further ordained—That it shall be the duty of the Chief and other Engineers to inquire and examine into all shops and other places, where shavings or other combustible materials may be collected and deposited, and at all times to be vigilant in causing the removal of the same, whenever, in the opinion of any two of them, the same may endanger the city; and to direct the owner or occupant of such shop or other place, to remove the same, or cause the same to be removed, at his expense, under the direction of the Engineers.

SEC. 24. Be it further ordained, That when any chimney, stove, or stove-pipe within said city shall be defective or out of repair, or so constructed or placed that any building or other property shall be in danger of fire therefrom, it shall be the duty of the Chief Engineer, or any two Engineers of the Fire Department, to give notice, in writing, to the owner or possessor of said chimney, stove, or stove-pipe, to remove or repair the same. And if such owner or possessor shall, for the space of forty-eight hours after such notice, unnecessarily neglect to remove or effectually repair such chimney, stove or stove-pipe, he shall forfeit a sum not less than two dollars nor more than twenty dollars, and he shall be liable to a similar forfeiture for every week he shall so unnecessarily neglect to remove or effectually repair the same, after the termination of the said forty-eight hours.

SEC. 25. Be it further ordained,—That if said owner or possessor shall unnecessarily neglect to remove or effectually repair such a chimney, stove, or stove-pipe, within forty-eight hours after notice as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the Chief Engineer to remove or repair the said chimney, stove, or stove-pipe, the expenses of which may be recovered by an action of the case by the City Treasurer against the said owner or possessor.

SEC. 26. Be it further ordained,—That all moneys recovered for fines, forfeitures and penalties arising under this ordinance, and the laws of the State regulating the storage and transportation of gunpowder, shall be paid to the City Treasurer, to be applied in such way as is or may be provided by law.

SEC. 27. Be it further ordained,—That whenever the members of the several companies shall assemble at the houses entrusted to their care, either on duty or company business, order and regularity shall be preserved. And it shall be the duty of the officers and members to refrain from unnecessarily assembling at said houses. And the utmost care and economy shall be observed in the use of fuel, lights and other property furnished by the city.

SEC. 28. Be it further ordained,—That any member of the City Council may enter within the lines, at any fire, wearing a suitable badge, to be provided by the Mayor and Aldermen.

SEC. 29. Be it further ordained, That no Fire Engine or apparatus belonging to the city, shall be used in any trial or contest for superiority with any other Engine, or be taken out of the city, except to render assistance at fires in neighboring towns, unless by special order of the City Council.

SEC. 30. Be it further ordained, That "an ordinance establishing a Fire Department for preventing and extinguishing Fires," passed Oct. 16 1838, and "An ordinance additional" to the same passed Feb. 3, 1851 be and the same and are hereby repealed.

SEYMOUR'S GALVANIC ABDOMINAL SUPPORTER.

THIS apparatus possesses all the mechanical advantages of the Abdominal Supporters now in use, and also some valuable improvements beside the galvanic attachment. It has been tested, approved of, and universally adopted in the practice of all the leading Physicians in New York, Boston, and other places where introduced, in the treatment of all Nervous diseases which exhibit themselves under so many different heads, and particularly in the cure of Uterine difficulties. The beneficial results which have uniformly attended the use of this instrument are a sufficient guaranty of its utility and general application. The advantages of this over other Supporters are, it cures by its Galvanic action, presents a smooth surface that does not retain heat or impurities which pass from the system, and can be kept pure and healthful.

The attention of the medical profession is respectfully solicited to an examination and test of the instrument. The above Supporters are for sale by GEO W. PIERSON, Druggist, No 4 Smith's Block, sole agent for Bangor and vicinity.

SPEECH OF HON. W. P. FESSENDEN, OF MAINE,

In the United States Senate March 3, 1854, On the Nebraska bill.

(Concluded.)

But by this time—and it is one remarkable—the free States of the Union began to inquire what was to be the end and effect of all this. Here was territory which was not in the Union at the start. Here is territory extensive enough to make some six or seven, or eight, or ten free States of this Union, which are to be added one after another and thus, probably, to change the whole existing state of things, as we understood them to be at the time of the Constitution was formed. They then took a position (for the first time; and I will show, by-and-by, why they took that position—that no slave States should be received into the Union. Sir, was there not some reason for it? What consideration had they received? Was not this territory of Louisiana purchased, as we are told, by the common treasure of the United States? And on the principle now assumed, has what is purchased by the common blood or the common treasure belongs to all, and must be fairly divided, was there not some reason why the North should inquire whether this thing was to go on from one State to another, contrary to the original intention and understanding with which the Constitution was formed, until we should be at last overborne by the territory thus purchased? Was there anything remarkable about it anything that occasioned what I have understood to be the tremendous excitement of that day, when the same cry which has been heard in regard to the dissolution of the Union, was loud all over this country, especially in the slave States, and we were threatened with disunion if the matter was persisted in. There was such an excitement, and it resulted as these contests have generally resulted since the foundation of this Government, in the North giving way. Senators may talk here about this matter being settled, about the North having the balance of power in its hands which it may retain, and will retain, in despite of every effort or wish to control it. But what is the fact? The fact, as shown by history, is, that there has been no contest between the free States and the slave States since the foundation of the Government, in relation to the important question, where the free States have not been obliged to yield in the end, and they have been obliged to yield because they were to much afflicted with that class of men described by the honorable Senator from Massachusetts [Mr. Sumner in his speech the other day, and for the want, moreover, of that unity of interest and purpose of which I have spoken heretofore. That contest continued for a time. What was the result of it? It must intended that at that period there was a single individual citizen out of Missouri, living in established north of the line finally agreed upon, with slaves or otherwise. It was a wilderness, and there were certainly no slaves there. Therefore, here were no rights of slavery there. The result was an agreement, or compact, or whatever the chooses to call it, for great emphasis now, as that branch of Congress, do not seem to deny that it was a compact. By the agreement a line was to be drawn on a certain parallel, and in all territory above that line, from that day thenceforth, slavery was to be prohibited, leaving the implication that slavery might be permitted below that line. Under that agreement and stipulation, not in the form of contract, signed, sealed and the consideration expressed, in order to suit the legal views of the Senator from Connecticut [Mr. Toucey,] not drawn up according to the law books, but sufficient to be an understanding between honorable men, acting for a nation, acting upon a great national question, that line was established, and Missouri came into the Union. What was the result? What is the bargain. Gentlemen have spoken of a bargain. It was nothing more or less than that above a certain line slavery should never go. That was the consideration. For that, Missouri should come into the Union as a State, unrestricted with reference to slavery. That is all. In the course of this debate it has been said that the free States broke the compact,—that they objected to the admission of Arkansas. The fallacy of that statement has been proved in a public print. No man will now repeat it. There was no opposition founded on the fact that slavery existed here. Mr. Adams was at the time the leading northern man in the House of Representatives, and he expressly said there was no such objection. No one made it an objection to them, with reference to the admission of the State of Arkansas afterward, Senators cannot make out any breach of compact, if compact it was, on the part of the free States. See what was done.

Look a little at what was given and what was received. On one side were three powerful States, destined to be powerful, each at the very moment of their admission entitled to two Senators in this body, has vastly increasing the political power of the slave States—I speak upon this question now, not as a sickly sentimentalist, but as a politician, in reference to its political aspects and effects—coming in at once or within a very short space of time. They gave to Congress all the power of those States, both by their Senators and their Representatives. What was given on the other side? A chance that, at some future day, a day which at that period was understood to be remote, far remote, above that compromise line might be formed free States. At that time the country was inhabited by Indian tribes. The title to a large portion of it was not acquired and could only be acquired by treaty, which treaty would require the sanction of two thirds of this Senate, with all the power of the slave States in, and exercise, to carry it into effect, before the land could be occupied. And what has this Government been doing since? The honorable Senator from Tennessee [Mr Bell] has informed us, and we all understand that a large portion of that territory has been set aside as Indian territory, and that in addition to three or four tribes of Indians—I do not pretend to know the exact number—inhabiting that region of country at the time of its cession, some fifteen to twenty more have been removed, and—located upon it. This, sir, was the consideration received, and it is all the consideration. On the one side, three States were admitted within the course of a few years, with all the power they could bring into the body. On the other side was the remote possibility and contingency that, at some future day, when a large portion of the country, not yet settled, could be populated, free States should be carved out of it. Am I right, as a matter of fact? I believe myself to be historically correct.

What has happened since. Florida was admitted as a slave State into the Union without one word of objection on the part of the free States, thus making another slave State, coming in by purchase above or beyond what was originally contemplated in the Constitution.

A little further on, and Texas became annexed to this country and the same line, by another compact or agreement, was to run through that Territory but what was the effect of it? The immediate admission of a large and rich, and powerful State, with two other Senators, giving additional political strength to the slave power, we—I say we, because this is put as a question of North and South—the northern or free States of this confederacy having the possibility at some future day, that we might acquire some additional free States out of the territory thus acquired. I should like very much, as the Senator from Connecticut (Mr Toucey) and other Senators have done, to speak for the whole country and not for a part of it, but the difficulty is, that those gentlemen from the free States, from the northern States, especially, who come here with these words in their mouths to speak for all the country and not for a part of it, are apt to forget the part they come from; and, therefore, if I would not also forget the portion of the country which I represent I must speak of that first and before all.

Here, sir, have been three, four, five—I believe there are all—five powerful States admitted into this Union, with ten Senators upon this floor, without objection, and all from newly acquired territory. Is there to be seen in this a disposition to oppress the South, to take advantage of numbers in reference to this question? Has any narrow, short-sighted policy been exhibited? I have not been able to find the slightest evidence of it.

Well, sir, the compromise measures of 1850 became the law of the land. We had acquired new territory from Mexico, and new questions arose.—And, sir, although the whole of that newly acquired territory was free territory in every sense of the word, yet, notwithstanding, California could only come into this Union as a Free State on the condition that two Territories, Utah and New Mexico, should be so organized that they might hereafter become slave States. Such was the compromise of 1850 in this particular. I wish Senators to understand that I do not recognize that so-called compromise as in any manner binding upon me.—Though a member of the Whig Convention at Baltimore, which made those compromise measures a part of its platform, my honorable friend from Georgia [Mr Dawson] will bear me witness—for we were both members of the committee which reported those resolutions—that I refused my assent to the resolution indorsing those measures. But they became the law of the land, and are recognized throughout the country as a compromise, and by those measures the South obtained all it could reasonably anticipate or desire.

Mr President, it has been claimed for those compromise measures of 1850 that they satisfied all parties, and restored peace to a distracted country. Secessionists, disunionists at the South, men who stand, I suppose upon the same level with the fanatic and sickly sentimentalists, were hardly disposed to remain quiet, but the great mass of the people, North and South, seemed willing to avoid all further agitation, and wait the event. Why were they so disposed? Sir, the whole country had been threatened loudly with a dissolution of the Union. We heard much of concord and brotherly love. We of the free States, especially, were ominously informed that certain fire-eating gentlemen of the South were about to dissolve the Union within a week, and, if I rightly recollect, it was dissolved some two or three times in this very Chamber. At any rate, the day was appointed, but, from some defect in the arrangements, it happily, and the thing was not done—the bolt did not fall! Sir, it is well understood that upon that threat, that pretence, the free States were induced to yield the Wilmot proviso. I know it was argued that slavery could never go into those Territories—Utah and New Mexico, that it was excluded by a law of Providence irrepealable in its nature, stronger than all human laws, which rendered the ordinance of 1787, as applied to those Territories, not only useless but absurd. If such was believed to be the fact what was the occasion of so much angry excitement? Was the Union to be dissolved for a mere abstraction, an idea that, if carried out, could lead to no practical result?

Well, sir, the people of the free States have, pretty generally, chosen to submit. As a private citizen, I have been willing to content myself with the right to abhor the institution of slavery as much as I pleased; not wishing to interfere with it in any way within the limits of any State—either that of the Senator from Georgia, [Mr Dawson] or any other, having no desire to disturb any rights under the Constitution, or the rights of any other person, directly or indirectly, but feeling through my whole system a great aversion to the thing itself, and laboring, moreover, as a citizen of this Union, residing in a free State, under the strong pressure arising from the constitutional difficulty I have already spoken of. With these sentiments I have felt, and shall ever feel, bound in duty to resist, here or elsewhere, so far as I constitutionally may, the extension of slavery in this country to the utmost of my power—with little effect, it may be, but the obligation is no less imperative on that account.

But peace was obtained. We were a happy people. We sat down under our own vine and our own fig trees. We endeavored to be quiet. Brotherly love was all abroad. We met our friends from the South in perfect concord. All differences had been settled. There was no trouble anywhere. We were all, to use a familiar expression, "happy as the days are long." Suddenly, in the midst of this concord of ours, comes a proposition to take from the free States just that which had been given for all these civil, social, and political advantages which had accrued to the South—to take the little that was allowed to the free States by the compromise, or compact, or whatever you call it, of 1820. This proposition presents itself in this Chamber without a word to the country, without a syllable having been said to my knowledge, at least, in any state of the Union upon the subject. Southern gentlemen on this floor repudiate the authorship of the proposition, protesting that it did not come from them, and would not have come from them—admitting, in point of fact, as I understand them, that they considered the whole thing as dishonorable in itself, and the sin of it should not be laid at their door.

Why, then, is this remarkable proposition before us? For what purpose has it come? To allay agitation? There was none. To make peace? There was nothing but harmony, says the compromise of 1850. Why, was it? I am at a loss to divine. Was it to establish a principle merely? Will you set this country in a flame upon a principle? Gentlemen from the South tell us that nothing is to be gained by slavery from it. They tell us upon their honor that they think slavery cannot go into these territories. Nothing practically good, or practically evil is to come of it. And yet we find every man of them, almost, on this floor, and on this question, contending that this thing shall be done, that it is right, and that although they had received all the advantages which I have mentioned from the previous legislation of this Government, they yet demand more, and require that the compromise which set aside the whole of this territory for freedom shall, for political considerations, be abrogated and dissolved.

Sir, I have in my possession an address to the people of Maine, bearing date March 7, 1820, and signed by a majority of its Representatives in Congress, among whom were Enoch Lincoln, afterwards Governor of the State, and Ezekiel Whitman, afterwards Chief Justice of its highest court. That address states the true ground of objection to the admission of that State into the Union. No one disputed her right to be admitted as a sovereign and independent State, as Alabama and Mississippi had been admitted without a question. Her territory was a part and a portion of the old thirteen. She had furnished soldiers in the Revolution, and recruits to your army and navy in the second war of independence, as it was called. She had every claim to be received with open arms, and yet, sir, how was the fact? Her admission was opposed on political grounds. The opposition was founded in a jealousy of power. Maine was objected to without Missouri, because Maine, without Missouri, increased the power of the non-slaveholding States. For the first time, this question of the balance of power was raised, and raised by the South. And thus it happened that Maine, with her thousands of inhabitants, in full position, and having every capacity to become a powerful member of this Union, was to be, and was excluded, notwithstanding the previous admission of new slave States, almost without a question, unless, and until yet another slaveholding State could come in at the same time. Sir, with such a warning, was it wonderful, I ask again, that the free States should have begun to inquire where this was to end, and should have insisted upon the line beyond which slavery should not go? And when we find the South, almost to a man, advancing to obliterate, that line, can we be at a loss to understand the object of such a movement?

The time and the manner, as it strikes me, of introducing this proposition into this body, are both singularly unfortunate. Why, sir, have gentlemen forgotten, on either side of the Chamber, the appeal they made on this floor to the people of the North to quiet agitation? Have they forgotten all they said and prayed for?—Have they forgotten the denunciations they threw out against those who consciously or unconsciously brought this country into a state of agitation? Have they forgotten the strong appeals they made to the fraternal feelings of the free States? If they have not forgotten those things, let me ask them with what propriety can they now, when they say this merely the affirmation of a principle; when the admit that no practical good is to become of it; when they say they expect nothing of it except to put a few words upon the statute book—and soon as that agitation was quieted—now cast they, with any regard to their own pretensions for the love of country, yield their support to a proposition like this?—a proposition most carefully calculated to excite the angry feelings that can be excited in the bosoms of northern men. By this wanton compact. Will they not yield us nothing for good faith? It is demonstrated to us that the South received its consideration long ago. Will the free States feel nothing of losing robbed of their portion? It is shown, plainly shown, that slavery has gained great advantages from this new territory; will you take away all the advantages you agreed some thirty years ago that freedom should receive from it?

The Constitution was not formed by the States as States. It was formed by the people of the United States, as I have always understood it. I am not choice, as I stated, in the use of language; and I do not care whether gentlemen admit the word "compact" or any applicable extract. I mean by that the proposition that they made themselves and enforced by the aid of northern voters those who voted all it from the North being pledged to go home and defend it before their people, on the ground that they had received this consideration for it. That is the doctrine, and no other, that I have heard, and is all I wish to say in reference to that point.

I hope if there is agitation; if there is excitement; if there is fanaticism, if you choose to call it so; if there is unduly sensitiveness, if you like that better, in the free States from this time forward, you will just cast your eyes back to those who made it, started it, and gave occasion for it. If you hear of cavilings in the North, coupled with denunciations of slavery at the South, recollect the state of quiet from which you brought it forth. It is not enough to tell the people of the free States that this was tendered by the North to the South. We do not admit the authority of the Senator speaking it, though he may occupy a most conspicuous position, to speak for the North. He has no more authority than I have. At any rate we repudiate him as acting for us in our part of the country. I can answer for my own State. With all the respect that the people of my State may have for his character and position, he cannot claim, and, the gentlemen of the South cannot claim for him, or for any other gentleman from the North, who act with him, that he speaks for us, except so far as his own State is concerned. They cannot claim for him that he has any right to tender from the North this release. And allow me to say, that I do not understand that principle of honor, although it seems to be well understood here, which allows that what cannot honorably be taken directly, can be grasped with honor when offered by another having no authority to give it. There may be some very nice distinctions in the minds of gentlemen. They may be able to reconcile the difficulty. They could not, it seems, move in this matter; but could undertake to bring it up in any shape or form; but inasmuch as the proposition has come here, they will not wait to see whether it is set aside by those who alone are competent to make it, but will take it at once, and settle the question afterwards. Sir, I do not understand such a principle.

Sir, what are the particular grounds of excuse for the introduction of this trouble into question at the present time? Mark you no practical results is expected from it. No change of position is to arise from it. Nothing is to come out of it at all except the repeal of this restriction in the act for the admission of Missouri. That is all, and that all is nothing, my Southern gentlemen. Why, then, is it to be done? Because, say several Senators, this restriction is unconstitutional. But upon this point there is a difference of opinion among themselves. I understand my honorable friend from North Carolina (Mr Badger) to say—and I have great respect for his opinion as a lawyer—that he has no doubt of the constitutionality of that restriction. I understand other southern gentlemen to affirm its unconstitutionality.

But it is singular, that in the history of this question, the unconstitutionality of the restriction lay dormant in the minds of Southern gentlemen for more than thirty years. It is very singular that it lay long enough for them to avail themselves of the admission of Missouri as a State, of Arkansas as a State, and of Texas as a State. When the question came up in this Senate, not the first man that I ever knew of, or ever heard of, breathed the idea, or suggested it in any way, that a restriction thus fixed and determined was unconstitutional. Why did not that objection arise then? What new light has been shed upon the country? Why did it come? Did it present itself at any time before slavery was ready—having secured all it at first claimed—to grasp at the remaining territory? How far is this to go? Are we never to remove the restriction by the resolution admitting Texas, and is all new territory hereafter to be acquired to be subject to no restriction? I think he country will be led to inquire what is to be the effect of this continued increase of slave States? Gentlemen talk of the balance of power having been secured to the free States. It strikes me that there will be some little power secured to the South, or to the slave States. But upon this question of constitutionality we have had an argument from the learned and honorable Senator from Connecticut, (Mr Toucey.) He was not content with the views taken by other gentlemen, but has argued the matter to full as a lawyer. Allow me to say, sir, that upon that question I never had the least doubt. I can give a reason for it. Sir, in my early reading there was such a thing found as sovereignty. The Senator from Michigan has given us an argument on the subject of the constitutional power of Congress to prohibit slavery in the new territories.

I acknowledge the very high authority of the honorable Senator; but I want to ask again if gentlemen may answer it or not, what is, or is not such a thing as sovereignty, the power to command, and the power to make laws? It strikes me that there is. Well, such a thing existed over the territory before it was ceded by France, if it did exist there when the territory was ceded to the United States of America, did or did not the sovereignty pass with the territory? It ceased in France. Did it become extinct, or did it vanish, pass to the United States? If it passed to the United States, it passed to the people of the United States. Sovereignty—what is not granted by the Constitution—is in the people. All sovereignty with us is in the people. Invested with none, except in the form of the Constitution. If it existed in the people to whom do the people delegate that sovereignty? How do they exercise that sovereignty? When sir, they delegate it to the officers of the Constitution, whom the Constitution made; to the Congress of the United States, and the President of the United States. What sovereignty they may have, so far as they did not upon a subject, was delegated to the Congress of the United States. Is not this particular subject provided for in the Constitution? Is nothing said about the territories in the Constitution? Do we not find them mentioned there? I believe we do. I think we find it said that Congress shall have the power to make all needful rules and regulations regarding the territories. What does the expression mean, "to make all needful rules and regulations?" Does it not mean to make laws? How otherwise do we make rules and regulations? Can Congress express in any form except in the form of laws? What does the Constitution mean when it says that Congress shall "regulate" commerce? How? By law. What does it mean when it says Congress shall "regulate" the value of coin? How can it do that? By law, by statute. How does it make "rules and regulations" for the government of the army? By statute. How does it make regulations for the government of the navy? By statute. Congress can make no rule or regulation except as a law. Very well, then, Congress has power. If so much of the sovereignty and power of the people of the United States is given to make laws for the territory, I should like to know where the limitation is on that power, to make laws? The honorable Senator from Michigan, (Mr. Cass,) himself says that there must be power to organize the government. Where does he get that from, and why do you go to necessity when there is a positive provision found in the Constitution of the United States?

But I will not dwell in abstractions, but in plain and palpable provisions. "Congress shall have power to make all needful rules and regulations." Is there any gentleman here who contends that the power to organize and govern is not found under this clause of the Constitution, or if not found there, under the general power which it has as proprietary? me and I thought it was contrary to southern doctrine ever to resort to more implication, when you find a positive provision in the Constitution or the subject. I say, then, that not only is this a new doctrine, but in my judgment, it is a doctrine unfounded in the Constitution and I am surprised to the Senator from Michigan, that if you have one his doctrine of squatter sovereignty, as it is called, I see no reason why the people of these Territories may not institute a municipal form of government, or any other which they choose, subject as they continue a Territory, because although the Constitution of the United States guarantees a republican form of the government to every State, it does not guarantee it to the Territory; and if they have the exclusive power of legislation, and taking care of themselves, and regulating their own concerns, I see no limitation upon them until they become a State.

I am no convert to the doctrine, nor am I in that this provision, this restriction upon the slavery power introduced into the act of 1820, was otherwise than constitutional. I believe that the similar restriction in the joint resolution for the annexation of Texas was equally constitutional. I believe that the Wilmot proviso is quite as constitutional; and I have already said, that under my impressions, I would have adhered to it. I know of no other position taken except as assumed by southern gentlemen, who say that this restriction is at war with equal rights. We demand equal rights, we wish to go into that Territory with our property, say they.

I do not mean to argue that matter. It has been exposed by the Senator from the Michigan fully and conclusively. But I would ask southern gentlemen why they cannot go there on as good terms as we can, if they go themselves. It would be a pertinent inquiry how many negroes a slaveholder must take with him from a slave State in order to place him on an equality with a northern man? Does your equality consist in having negroes about you? Why, there is no southern gentlemen within the sound of my voice, or anywhere, who would not scout the idea that he was not, in every respect, equal, if not superior to any northern man. And not gentlemen rise on this floor, and gravely argue that they cannot go into that Territory on equal terms, and with equal rights, with northern men, unless they can be protected there in that "property" which is necessary to their social enjoyment. I do not intend or carry out this inquiry to any greater extent. I toss merely to state some of my own views, and the views which, as I believe, the people of my own State also entertain upon this question. They consider it a mere matter—I will not say of robbery, for that would not be parliamentary—but a matter of gross injustice. They take no appeals to the magnanimity of southern Senators or Representatives. They know that they gain nothing by such an appeal from those who come forward, under such a set of things, to upon this compromise line, after availing themselves of all the advantages which have resulted from it. They would gain no more by appealing to their magnanimity than he would by appealing to their love of peace. At you may appeal, with some hope, to their justice; for I agree with my Honorable friend from Ohio, (Mr. Wade,) that in the matter of justice, as administered in their courts they have been ready to render out judgments.

But, sir, all this is designed as a measure of peace, and as for you—not by way of prophecy but as my own opinion—that anything but peace you will have. I gentlemen expect to quiet all these controversies by adopting what my constituents now consider, and very well consider, an act of gross wrong under whatever pretence it may be, whether on the ground of the unconstitutionality of the former act or any act or after having rested as long satisfied with it as we can tell them that this in my judgement, is the beginning of their troubles. I can speak for one individual. I have avowed my own opposition to slavery, and I am as strong in it as anybody from Ohio, (Mr. Wade. I wish to say again, that I do not mean that I have any of the particular feeling on this subject, which gentlemen have called "fiddly sentimentality;" but if this matter is to be pushed beyond what the Constitution originally intended it; if for political purposes, and for a political design and effect—because it is a political design and effect—we are to be driven to the wall by agitation here, let me tell gentlemen that this is not the last they will hear of the question.

Territories are no States, and if this restriction is repealed, with regard to this territory—it is not yet in the Union, and you may be prepared to consider that, with the assent of the free States, in my judgement. It never will come into the Union except with exclusion of slavery. It may be that two shall be overborne, as we have been before. I know not how many people of the North will yield to the cry of fraternity and concord, and all that sort of sweet lullaby which has been sung in their ears so long. I only know that if their rights are outraged in one particular they must look to the next point. I speak to gentlemen as they have spoken to northern men on this floor.

If the compromise of 1820 is to be annulled, if the Texas compromise is to be considered unconstitutional and go for nothing, the time will come erelong when we shall be called upon to act upon another question than this of the mere organization of territories. I speak for myself with all frankness. Gentlemen have talked here of a dissolution of the Union. We have heard that threat until we are fatigued with the sound. We consider it now, let me say, as mere brutum fulmen, noise, and nothing else. It produces not the slightest impression upon the thinking portion of the public. You ought at it yourselves.

Mr Butler. Who ought! (Laughter.)

Mr Fessenden. You at the South. You do not carry it seriously into private conversation.

Mr Butler. No, sir; if your doctrine is carried out, if such sentiments as yours prevail, I want a dissolution right away.

Mr Fessenden. As has been said before, do not delay it on my account.

Mr Butler. We do not on yours.

I do not delay it on account of any body at the North. I want she gentleman to understand that we do not believe in it. We love the Union as well as you can, and you have it as much as we do. I am willing to allow all that. But sir, if it has come to this, that whenever a question comes up between the free States and the slave States of this Union, we are to be threatened with dissolution unless we yield, if that is the only alternative to be considered, it seems to be a very grave question for honorable men and freemen to decide. I do not wish to say anything offensive to gentlemen, but I desire them to understand what I mean. It is that we are ready to meet every question on this floor fairly and honestly; we are willing to be bound by the decision of the majority, as law. If it operates hardly upon us, we will bear it. If it is unconstitutional, we must go to the proper tribunal for a decision, and not threaten face other with what no one of us desires to execute.

Such, sir, are my views in reference to this matter. I have not spoken them so much for the Senate as for the purpose of giving expression to what I believe to be the sentiments of those I have the hor or to represent on this floor. Whether right or not, time only can decide, and I am willing to abide that decision.

It is wise not to seek a secret, and honest not to reveal one.

TUESDAY, MARCH 21, 1854.

Organization of the City Council.

The members of the City Council elect assembled in convention at the City Hall yesterday forenoon.

George W. Pickering, Esq., Mayor of the City, called the Convention to order, and stated the object of the meeting when the City Clerk read the resolution of the Board of Aldermen declaring the election of George W. Pickering, Mayor for the current municipal year.

Mr. Pickering signified his acceptance of the office and the oath was administered to him by George B. Moody, Esq.

The Mayor administered the oath to the Aldermen and Common Council.

Rev. S. L. Caldwell offered a prayer, when the Mayor delivered his address.

The Convention separated and the two Boards assembled in their respective rooms.—The Common Council organized by the choice of John E. Godfrey, Esq., President, and S. F. Humphrey, Clerk.

Orders were passed adopting the Rules and Orders of last year; submitting to a joint Committee the subject of unfinished business; the number of subordinate officers necessary to elect on Monday next, and the compensation they shall receive.

The Boards then adjourned to meet next Monday at nine o'clock, A. M.

The Season and the Crops.

The New York Tribune states under date of March 15th; that the farmers in the vicinity of Camden, N. J., have commenced planting potatoes. The soil is a dry sandy one. In the neighborhood of Freehold the frost is quite out of the ground and plowing commenced. The soil there is sandy loam, not quite so light as at Camden, which is opposite Philadelphia.

Many farmers on Long Island are busy preparing for spring crops.

Sunday and Monday, March 12 and 13, in New York, were clear, spring-like days. A few such will set the gardeners agog about here. Grass is beginning to sprout a little. How is it with you, country friends? Give us the earliest information, that all may earn what those at a distance are doing in the way of spring planting.

On the Penobscot, our story is that the month of March, up to the 17th, was mild and pleasant and the snow settled considerably, but at that time, there came a smart cold storm, blocking the roads badly, delaying the mails, and making it look like winter again. The average depth of snow is about two feet in this and adjoining towns, and in the woods, up river among the lumberers, there is about five feet of snow. The ice is about two feet thick in the ponds and streams, solid and in good order.

The high riding sun will in a few days make a decided change in the snow. The ice will leave the river about the fifteenth of April, and the early potatoes will be planted—by soon as there is a fair chance, and even then we say that New Jersey, out and out in quantity and quality!

The Committee for conducting the course of lectures in this city by Miss Lucy Stone, after paying to her for the lectures and her expenses $ 70,00 found that they had left a surplus of $23,00 which they agreed to devote to the following charities and objects in the sums named:—

Female Orphan Asylum	75,00
American Anti-Slavery Society	75,00
Old Lady's Charitable Society	50 00
Sewing School for children	25,00
Woman's Rights Tracts	38,00
	263,00

Entertainment this Evening—Panorama of Cuba.

On this evening Major Felch, the proprietor of the original Kinetoscope will open his splendid Panorama of Cuba, at the City Hall, with other attractions for the entertainment of the public. The Major in catering so successfully as he has for the public, wishes it distinctly understood, that he has no connection with any other exhibition now in this city. He intends to make his exhibition worthy the attention of our citizens, and has the fullest confidence, from his success elsewhere, that he shall not fail in receiving their approbation and patronage.

Maine Law and the Massachusetts Decision.

Augusta, March 17, 1854.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

The recent decision of the Court in Massachusetts upon the constitutional question raised upon the prohibitory liquor law of that State, will undoubtedly excite much interest with the friends of the Maine law in this State, in regard to its effect upon our law, in the same subject. With a view to satisfy my own mind on that subject, I have given the matter such examination as the very brief time and somewhat limited means at command would allow, and I am happy to say that, in my opinion, none of the objections made to the Massachusetts Law can be successfully made against that of Maine. It was the intention of the Committee who prepared the amendments enacted last winter to obviate all the constitutional objections which were made against that of Massachusetts, and which the Court of Massachusetts have sustained. It is no doubt in the power of a Court determined to overthrow the act to find or make a flaw in it. To determine what conflicts with a provision of the bill of rights, is, and must be, in many instances, as much a matter of arbitrary opinion on the part of the Court, as the amount of damages in many instances must be with a jury. From such objections no legislation upon any such questions can be free. It is no anticipated that there is any such predetermination of mind in our Court; on the contrary, there can be no doubt that they will sustain the law unless for very obvious reasons they shall find it liable to constitutional objections.

One important point is made certain, by the opinion of the Massachusetts Court, and that is, that the principle of the prohibitory law authorizing the seizure and destruction of liquors is constitutional. That it will be enforced in Maine in spite of all impediments from executive or any other quarters is, I believe, a fixed fact.

Very truly yours,

J. B. HILL.

Arrival of the Steamship Ottawa.

The steamship Ottawa, Capt Acklen, arrived at Portland Friday afternoon, having left Liverpool on the morning of the 3d inst., making her passage, therefore, in a little more than 14 days. She brings a full freight and 150 passengers, but no European news.

Nothing was known of the steamship Charity, which left Greenock for Portland Feb. 22.

Railroad movements in Maine.

The Portland State of Maine gives the following balance at the Railroad movements in Maine:—

"Every part of our State has caught the Railway fever, and another year of abundance will produce important results to Maine. A movement will be made the present year, to extend the York and Cumberland Railroad beyond Saco River. The friends of the Saco River Railroad, from tide water to Fryeburg, are moving to get up a stock subscription along its line. The people of Bath are making an effort to extend a line to Lewiston. At Wiscasset a company has been held proposing to construct a line of Railway to Richmond. The lines from Augusta to Skowhegan and from Waterville to Bangor are in rapid progress. A charter is asked from China to Bangor, another from Waterville to Norridgewock, another from Mechanic Falls to Portland, another from Canton Point to Canada line. At Calais a charter is asked to build from Baring to Lewey's Island. A charter is also asked for a Railway from Lincoln to the Aroostook River, and on other from Dexter to Dover. These new projects added to the ones where charters have been previously granted, make a formidable list. Our Railway system is just beginning to show itself."

GOLDBERGER'S GALVANO-ELECTRIC CHAINS These Chains are recommended by all the first Physicians in Europe as a speedy and certain relief for RHEUMATISM and all NERVOUS COMPLAINTS. MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

Gentlemen of the City Council:

We have come together at the commencement of a new Municipal Year, in obedience to the call of our fellow citizens, to take upon ourselves the responsibilities of the parts assigned us in the administration of the Municipal Government of our City.

It is my duty to "communicate such information and recommend such measures as the business and interests of the City in my opinion may require." In the discharge of that duty I will call your attention to several subjects connected with the interests of the City.

Our Public Schools are in a flourishing condition. The examination at the close of the last term was very satisfactory, and the presence of parents and friends indicated the great interest felt in their welfare. We have reason to feel at just pride in the condition of our Schools. They are one of the sources from which spring the principles that sustain our moral relations, and they demand at our hands liberal patronage and fostering care. I have no doubt they will receive at your hands the attention which their importance demands. The expenditure for the support of the Schools was $15,216. The expenditure for School Houses was $6115. The Committee to whose care the Schools are committed, have made their report, from which you will learn more particularly their condition.

The fire Department, during the last year was in part disbanded, and it became necessary to have a re-organization; and to that end the Ordinance creating it was revised, and the Department placed upon the paid system. An appropriation of about $4000 will be necessary for its support. The amount expended last year in this Department was $6 09, of which $3,000 is for new Engines.

The Pauper Department expended last year $6,469; about $3,300 were received back from sources back out to it, leaving the actual expense at $3 169, showing a small increase over last year. The Report of the Overseers will exhibit to condition of those who will try at thoroughly, three months I am, of no charge for the article. Now, gentlemen, come and from you nothing to try it! The preparation is called HURDIS HAIR RESTORER. Read the following certificate from a gentleman well known in this city, as well as New York:

New York, Dec. 9, 1853.

Mr. Hurd—Dear Sir—I have been bald for the past five years, and as my friends and grandfathers family were bald at an early age, I was considered bound to, and thought impossible to produce new hair on my head, and indeed every thing failed, until I was induced to use your Hair Restorer. I commenced using it about six weeks ago, and where my head was then bald it is now covered with a luxurious growth of curly hair, and here is what it will produce hair on any bald head.

Yours truly, C. FARAND,

Holloway's Pills for the Cure of Nervous Debility and determination of Blood to the Head.—Extract of a letter from Mr. John Lloyd, of Erdington, Bartley Green, Staffordshire:—"To Professor Holloway.—Sir—I think it my duty to inform you that for a long period I was afflicted with giddiness and weakness in the head and eyes, attended by loss of appetite and generally impaired health. Every means had failed to give me relief, and at length I became so alarmed that I was afraid of going out anywhere in consequence. Mr. Hughes, chemist, of Harborne, advised me to try your Pills, which I immediately did, and am happy to say they effected a perfect cure, and restored me to health and strength."

"The Glory of Man and the Graceful Ornament of Woman."

For What is there more glorious or more beautiful than to see a rich luxuriant head of hair on either man or woman? And when those rich tresses on woman begin to decay by disease, how important that we have some preventive or cure! There are a thousand different preparations brought into use, purporting to prevent hair from falling off, or causing a new growth upon the head that has become bald; but all of little or no use, and very often injuring the diseased roots more than doing them good. But there IS an article which has recently been discovered in New York, which WILL prevent hair from falling out, and is guaranteed to produce a good growth of hair on heads that have become bald. We have one case in Bangor of an elderly lady who has used it and who is willing to certify to the truth of the above. And to induce people to try it, the Wholesale Agent in Bangor offers for a reasonable consideration to guarantee a good head of hair on a person who will try it thoroughly, three months I am, of no charge for the article. Now, gentlemen, come and from you nothing to try it! The preparation is called HURDIS HAIR RESTORER. Read the following certificate from a gentleman well known in this city, as well as New York:

A CURE FOR ALL!

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT!

Citizens of the Choice!

You have done me the favor to write with one review, from one end of the Union to the other, to attest the character of my Ointment with your approbation. It is scarcely two years since I made it known among you, and already, it has obtained more celebrity than any other Medicine two short years passed.

ASTONISHING CURE OF SORE LEGS AFTER NINETY ARE HEALING.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. B. J. Langley of Hunt's valley, Caldwell county, North Carolina, U. S., dated December 1st, 1853.

READ IT IN OWN WORDS.

To Professor Holloway:

Sir—It is not my wish to become notorious, neither is this letter written for the mere sake of writing; but to say, that your Ointment is one of the most wonderful Ointments that ever the World was acquainted with. Being a poor man, and which was considered by all who knew me to be severe by beyond the reach of medicine. For nine years I was afflicted with one of the most painful and troublesome sores in the leg that ever befell a mortal; and after trying every medicine that I heard of, I resigned myself home to being cured by a friend brought me a couple of large pots of your Ointment, which caused the sores on my leg to heal, and completely restored me to health, to my upmost happiness and delight, as did the medicines I had my friends.

(Signed) W. J. LANGLEY.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF A BAD BREAST WHEN NEAR AT THE POINT OF DEATH.

Copy of a Letter from Mrs. R. Emery, New Orleans, November 9th, 1853.

To Professor Holloway:

Dear Sir—I do with great gratitude I have to inform you that by the use of your Ointment and Pills the life of my wife has been saved. For seven years she had a bad breast with running wounds, out of which numerous worms came. The doctors could save her life when there was no hope of Ointment and Pills, when in the short space of three weeks she felt a perfect cure, to the astonishment of all who knew us. We obtained your medicine from Messrs. Wright & Co., at Charles street, New Orleans, and the firm of Hotel des Exposition, also, although I had written it at New Orleans, being finally left, at the time, without having your Ointment at New York.

(Signed) R. EMERY.

The Pills should be used conjointly with the Ointment in most of the following cases:

Bad Legs,	Fistulas,	Scalds,
Bad Breasts,	Gout,	Sore Nipples,
Burns,	Glandular Swellings,	Sore throats,
Bunions,	Lumbago,	Skin diseases,
Chilblains,	Piles,	Scurvy,
Chapped hands,	Rheumatism,	Sore-heads,
Contracted and Stiff Joints,	Ulcers,	Wounds,

CLOTHE YOURSELVES!

Friends and patrons. I must ask your aid,
In giving work to one that does it well;
Come one and all, and do not be afraid,
For I depend upon it, no one shall excel.

In work, or shop-rose, I will give satisfaction
To any one who is capable of judging,
I will ask all a job is worth, every fraction,
He that will not give me that may be a dodging.

But pause and see me, call at Number Ten,
At East Market Square, in the Granite Block,
Up two flights of stairs, not three,
Walk in—you needn't stop to knock.

Here you'll find me at my occupation,
Either cutting, making, or repairing
Clothes for myself, or others in our nation,
Where there is at present an abundant and yearly increasing.

Repairing Clothes, at present is my hobby,
And I stay my work with good will and haste,
Come! you that had your coat torn from your body,
I'll take it back as well as at beginning.

Or a least thing, although I'm getting old,
Yet there is One who notices the sparrow,
That Power has access to—but, hold!
My name is, what's your name,

NOTICE.

G. W. T. BARCH,

LATE of Boston, would inform the citizens of Bangor and vicinity, that he has just opened an Apothecary Store, (formerly occupied by the late Dr. Holden,)

He will not, as is too often the case among Apothecaries, have connected with his business the selling of paints, oils, groceries, &c., but he intends to keep a Medicine Store, and nothing else. He flatters himself that, having been educated in the schools of Europe as a Chemist and Apothecary, and having had much practical experience in the business in which he is now engaged that he is capable of compounding and putting up medicines in the most scientific manner—therefore he would say to all wishing to purchase Medicines of the best quality, to just call at Mr. Barch's store, No. 22 West Market Square Bangor, and they can get just the article desired.

This Cement, which has been proved to be of great value, will be found a useful article in every family, the simple manner of its application is always a recommendation. The adhesive property which it contains is so wonderful that many things will rather break in a fresh place than where they have once been united without. The variety of purposes for which it may be used are numerous that it would be difficult to enumerate them. Its success in mending Glass, China, &c., is extraordinary, no failure having been reported. One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humors in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running in the ears and blotches in the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruptions of the skin.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ring worm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to six bottles are warranted to cure salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the very worst case of Scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures, and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system; yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There are no ifs nor ands about it, suiting some cases but not yours. He has peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston, and knows the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. He gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty; and has seen puny looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to a sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some who have taken it have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings, but you must not be alarmed—they always disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it—on the contrary, when that feeling is gone you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

TESTIMONIALS.

The following certificate from Dr. John C. Warren, of Boston, was given 17 years since, but will last forever.

Boston, Jan. 5, 1853.

Having had occasion to observe that some persons afflicted with Hernia have suffered much from the want of skillful workmen in accommodating Trusses to the peculiar cases of their cases, I have taken pains to inform myself of the competency of Mr. J. F. Foster to supply the deficiency occasioned by the death of Mr. Beath.—After some months of observation of his work, I am well satisfied that Mr. Foster is well acquainted with the manufacture of these instruments, and ingenious in accommodating to the variety of cases which occur. I feel called upon to recommend him to my professional brethren, and to the public as a person well fitted to supply their wants in regard to these important articles.

JOHN C. WARREN, M. D.

The undersigned take great pleasure in recommending to the favorable consideration of those who are unhappily afflicted with Hernia, Mr. James Frederick Foster as a skilful and competent person in the manufacture and fitting of Trusses. We have employed him (some of us over twenty years) and therefore speak from personal knowledge of his abilities. His early advantages, his long experience in the business, and the large number of individuals whom he has relieved in a variety of cases, made him, in our opinion, equal, if not superior, to any manufacturer of the article. His father, Dea. G. Frederick Foster, of Charlestown, was master of the Poor house in that town, for upwards of twenty four years, during which period Mr. Foster availed himself of the opportunity, and made application of Trusses to a great variety of cases, with great success, some of which were of a very complicated and distressing character.

It is well known to all who have occasion to wear a Truss, that its great excellence consists in its adaptation to the body, at the same time leaving the parts at ease. Any ordinary mechanic may make a Truss, but none but a skilful practitioner can apply it in such a manner as effectually and often times radically cure the complaint.

Our experience has convinced us that Mr. Foster has thoroughly attained this knowledge. The certificates of Dr. J. C. Warren, and other eminent surgeons which he has shown to us fully sustain the opinion we have expressed.

MEDICATED INHALATION.

A NEW METHOD.

A MOST WONDERFUL DISCOVERY has recently been made by Dr. Curtis, for the cure of Asthma, Consumption, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and all Lung Complaints, by Medicated Inhalation. Dr. CURTIS'S HYGEANA or INHALING HYGEAN VAPOR and CHERRY SYRUP has accomplished the most wonderful cures of Asthma and Consumption in the city of New York and vicinity for a few months past ever known to man. It is producing an impression on diseases of the Lungs never before witnessed by the medical profession. [See certificates in hands of Agents.]

The Inhaler is worn on the breast, under the linen without the least inconvenience, the heat of the body being sufficient to evaporate the fluid, supplying the lungs constantly with a healing and agreeable vapor passing into all the air-cells and passages of the lungs, that cannot possibly be reached by any other medicine. Here is a case of

ASTHMA CURED.

BROOKLYN, N. Y. Dec 20 1853.

For about eight years I have been severely afflicted with the Asthma; for the last two years I have suffered beyond all my powers of description; months at a time I have not been able to sleep in a bed, getting what rest I could sitting in my chair. My difficulty of breathing and my sufferings, were so great at times that for hours together my friends expected each hour would be my last. During the past six years I have had the aid and attendance of some of the most celebrated physicians, but have received no permanent benefit, and but little relief. I at length had the good fortune to procure Dr. Curtis's Hygeana or Inhaling Hygean Vapor and Cherry Syrup. At the time I first obtained it, I was suffering under one of my most violent attacks, and was in great distress, almost suffocating for want of breath. In less than ten minutes from the time I applied the Inhaler to my stomach and took a teaspoonful of the Cherry Syrup I was relieved in a great measure from the difficulty of breathing and had a comfortable night. I have since continued it with the greatest possible benefit, and am now comparatively well. God only knows the amount of suffering this medicine has relieved me from. My advice to the suffering is—try it.

MARGARET EASTON.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

New York, Dec 27, 1853.

I came to New York in the labor of a great grief, my native place is St. John, New Brunswick. When I reached this city my health was very poor; had a bad cough, raised a good deal of matter, which was frequently mixed with blood; had pain in my left side, and was very weak and emaciated. My friends and physicians pronounced my case Consumption and beyond the reach of medicine. I accidentally heard of Dr. Curtis's Hygeana, or Inhaling Hygean Vapor and Cherry Syrup, and obtained a package, which I verily believe was the means of saving my life. Soon after wearing the Inhaler I found it relieved the pressure on my lungs and after a while the disease made its appearance upon the surface under the Inhaler. I took the Cherry Syrup as directed, and continued to do so, my cough gradually growing better until it entirely left me, and I now consider myself cured. I still wear the Inhaler as the use of it is rather pleasant and believing it strengthening and purifying to the lungs, I feel unwilling at present to dispense with it.

CHERRY PECTORAL,

COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION.

Among the numerous discoveries Science has made in this generation to facilitate the business of life—increase its enjoyment, and even prolong the term of human existence, none can be named of more real value to mankind than this contribution of Chemistry to the Healing Art. A vast trial of its virtues throughout this vast country, has proven beyond a doubt that no medicine or combination of medicines yet known, can so surely control the varieties of pulmonary disease which have hitherto swept from our midst thousands and thousands every year. Indeed, there is now abundant reason to believe a Remedy has at length been found which can be relied on to cure the most dangerous affections of the lungs. Our space here will not permit us to publish any proportion of the cures effected by its use, but we would present the following—and refer further enquiry to my American Almanac which the agents below named will always be pleased to furnish free, wherein are full particulars and indisputable proof of these statements.

Office of Transportation, Laurens R. R., S. C. Aug 4, 1853.

J. C. Ayer, Dear Sir—My little son four years old has just recovered from a severe attack of Malignant Scarlet Fever, his throat was rotten, and every person that visited him pronounced him a dead child. Having used your Cherry Pectoral in California, in the winter of 1850 for a severe attack of Bronchitis, with entire success, I was induced to try it on my little boy. I gave him a teaspoonful every three hours commencing in the morning and by ten o'clock at night I found a decided change for the better, and after three days use he was able to eat or drink without pain.

Its use in the above named disease will save many a child from a premature grave, and relieve the anxieties of many a fond parent. For all affections of the Throat and Lungs I believe it the best medicine extant. A feeling of the deepest gratitude prompts me in addressing you these lines,—but for your important discovery, my little boy would now have been in another world.

I am yours, with great respect,

J. D. POWELL, Supt. Trans., L. R. T.

Rock Hill, (Somerset Co.) N. J., July 24, 1853.

Dr. J. C. Ayer—Since your medicine has become known here, it has a greater demand than any other cough remedy we have ever sold. It is spoken of in terms of unmeasured praise by those who have used it, and I know of some cases where the best they can say of it is not too much for the good it has done. I take pleasure in selling it, because I know that I am giving my customers the worth of their money, and I feel gratified in seeing the benefit it confers.

Please send me a further supply, and believe me

Yours with respect, JOHN C. WHITLOCK.

P. S. Almost any number of certificates can be sent you, if you wish it.

DR. MORSE'S Invigorating Cordial,

A Phenomenon in Medicine.

Health Restored & Life Lightened by Dr. Morse's Invigorating Elixir, or Cordial.

For centuries Medical science has been ransacking the vegetable and mineral kingdoms in search of something that should restore the lost or decaying energies of the nervous and muscular systems, without the drawback of subsequent prostration which all stimulants and agencies had heretofore entailed. That something has been found. It is a vegetable production brought from the sterile deserts of Arabia the Stony by the celebrated Professor M. Morse well known as a distinguished member of the learning societies of the Old world, and equally distinguished as a physician, a chemist and a traveller. The juices of this herb concentrated and combined with other vegetable medicinal extracts, are now producing results heretofore unheard of, in this or any other country. At first the properties attributed to Prof. MORSE'S INVIGORATING ELIXIR OR CORDIAL were deemed fabulous. The public often deceived could not believe the simple and sublime truths announced by the discoverer. But facts, stubborn incontrovertible facts attested by witnesses of the highest class and character are now rapidly bringing overwhelming evidence by a mass of testimony which is perfectly irresistable.

The ELIXIR remedies in all cases the deplorable effects resulting from abuse or misuse of the various organs which make up the wonderful machine called man. It restores to full vigor every delicate function connected with that mysterious compound agency of matter and mind necessary to the reproduction of human life. To persons of feeble muscular frame or deficient in vital power the recommended as the only means of communicating that energy which is necessary to the proper enjoyment of all the natural appetites as well as the higher mental attributes. Its beneficial effects are not confined to either sex or to any age. The feeble girl, the ailing wife, the listless, enervated youth, the overworn man of business, the victim of nervous depression, the individual suffering from general debility or from the weakness of a single organ, will all find immediate and permanent relief from the use of this incomparable renovator. To those who have a predisposition to paralysis it will prove a complete and unfailing safeguard against that terrible malady. There are many perhaps, who have so long tortured with their own ailments that they think the relief beyond the reach of medicines. Let not even those despair. The Elixir deals with disease as it exists, without reference to causes and will not fail to remove the disorder itself, but

REBUILD THE BROKEN CONSTITUTION.

The derangements of the system leading to nervous diseases, and the forms of nervous disease itself are so numerous that it would require a column to enumerate the maladies for which this preparation is a specific. A few, however, may be enumerated, viz: Neuralgia, tic doloreux, headache, incipient paralysis, hysteria, palpitation of the heart, spinal affection, muscular debility, tremors, flatulence, a pricking sensation in the flesh, numbness, timidity of the liver, mental depression, weakness of the will, indisposition to move, faintness after exercise, broken sleep and terrifying dreams, inability to remain in one place or position, weakness of the procreative organs, sexual incompetency, melancholy, monomania, fluor albus, sinking at the stomach, female irregularities, a chronic tendency to miscarriage, emaciation, and all complaints growing out of a free indulgence of the passions and all barrenness that does not proceed from organic causes beyond the reach of medicine.

Whenever the organs to be acted upon are free from malformation or strictural diseases it is averred that will replace weakness with strength, incapacity with efficiency, irregularity with uniform and natural activity and this not only without hazard of reaction, but with a happy effect on the general organization. Bear in mind that all maladies, wherever they begin, finish with the nervous system, and that the paralyzation of the nerves of motion and sensation is physical death. Bear in mind also that for every kind of nervous disease the Elixir Cordial is the only reliable preparation known.

CURE OF NERVOUS DISEASES.

No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the diseased, debilitated and shattered nervous system, whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once braced, revivified and built up. The mental and physical symptoms of nervous disease vanish together under its influence. Nor is the effect temporary; on the contrary, the relief is permanent, for the cordial properties of the medicine reach the constitution itself, and restore it to its normal condition.

LOSS OF MEMORY.

Want of boldness, flush of blood to the head, melancholy, mental debility, hysteria, wretchedness, thoughts of self destruction, fear of insanity, hypochondriasis, dyspepsia, general prostration, irritability, nervousness, inability to sleep, diseases incident to females, decay of the propagating function, hysteria, monomania, vague terrors, palpitation of the heart, impotency, constipation, &c., &c., from whatever cause arising, it is, if there is any reliance to be placed on human testimony, absolutely infallible.

A GREAT MEDICINE FOR FEMALES.

The unparalleled effects of this great restorative in all complaints incident to females mark a new era in the annals of medicine. Thousands of stimulants have been invented—thousands of invigorants concocted—all purporting to be specifics in the various diseases and derangements to which the delicate formation of woman renders her liable. The result has heretofore been uniform. These nostrums have indeed imparted a momentary vivacity to the nervous system, a transient and delusive vigor to the muscles, but this flash of relief has been succeeded by a depression and prostration greater than before, and the end has too often been utterly to paralyze the recuperative power of the nerves and the vital organization, and finally to destroy the unhappy patient.

EVERY WOMAN OF SENSE

who suffers from weakness, derangement, nervousness, tremors, pains in the back or any other disorder, whether peculiar to her sex, or common to both sexes—to give the Invigorating Cordial a trial.

MARRIED PERSONS,

or others will find this Cordial after they have used a bottle or two, a thorough regenerator of the system. In all directions are to be found the happy parents of healthy offspring, who could not have been so but for this extraordinary preparation. And it is equally potent for the many diseases for which it is recommended. Thousands of young men have been restored by using it, and not in a single case has it failed to benefit them.

PERSONS OF PALE COMPLEXION, or consumptive habits are restored by the use of a bottle or two, to bloom and vigor, changing the skin from a pale, yellow, sickly color, to a beautiful florid complexion.

TO THE MISGUIDED.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz: weakness of the back and limbs, pains in the head, dimness of sight, loss of muscular power, palpitation of the heart, dyspepsia, nervous irritability, derangement of the digestive functions, general debility, symptoms of consumption, &c.

Mentally, the fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion to society, self distrust, love of solitude, timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced. All thus afflicted should reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisite to promote connubial happiness, indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospect hourly darkens the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with your own.

PARENTS AND GUARDIANS

are often misled with respect to the causes and sources of disease in their sons and wards. How often do they ascribe to other causes the wasting of the frame, idiocy, madness, palpitation of the heart, indigestion, derangement of the nervous system, cough and symptoms indicating consumption; when the truth is that they have been indulging in a pernicious, though alluring practice, destructive both to mind and body.

CAUTION.

Dr. Morse's Invigorating Cordial has been counterfeited by some unprincipled persons.

In future all the genuine Cordial will have the proprietor's fac simile pasted over the cork of each bottle, and the following words blown in the glass—

"Dr. Morse's Invigorating Cordial, C. H. RING, Proprietor, N. Y."

The Cordial is put up highly concentrated in pint bottles.

Price—$3.00 per bottle; two for $5.00; six for $12.00.

AYER'S PILLS,

A NEW and singularly successful remedy for the cure of all Bilious diseases—Costiveness, Indigestion, Jaundice, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Fevers, Gout, Humors, Nervousness, Irritability, Inflammations, Headache, Pains in the Breast, Side, Back, and Limbs, Female complaints, &c., &c. Indeed very few are the diseases in which a Purgative Medicine is not more or less required, and much sickness and suffering might be prevented if a harmless but effectual Cathartic were more freely used. No person can feel well while a costive habit of body prevails; besides it soon generates serious and often fatal diseases which might have been avoided by the timely and judicious use of a good purgative. This is alike true of Colds, Feverish symptoms, and Bilious derangements. They all tend to become or produce the deep seated and formidable distempers which load the hearses all over the land. Hence a reliable family physic is of the first importance to the public health, and this Pill has been perfected with consummate skill to meet that demand. An extensive trial of its virtues by Physicians, Professors, and Patients has shown results surpassing anything hitherto known of any medicine. Cures have been effected beyond belief, were they not substantiated by persons of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth.

Among the eminent gentlemen to whom we are allowed to refer for these facts, are

PROF. VALENTINE MOTT, the distinguished Surgeon of New York City.

DOCT. A. A. HAYES, Practical Chemist of the Port of Boston and Geologist for the State of Massachusetts.

IRA L. MOORE, M. D., an eminent Surgeon and Physician, of the City of Lowell, who has long used them in his extensive practice.

H. C. SOUTHWICK, Esq., one of the first merchants in New York City.

C. A. DAVIS, M. D., Sup't and Surgeon of the United States Marine Hospital, at Chelsea, Mass.

Did space permit we could give many hundred such names, from all parts where the Pills have been used, but evidence even more convincing than the certificates of these eminent public men is shown in their effects upon trial.

These Pills, the result of long investigation and study, are offered to the public as the best and most complete which the present state of medical science can afford. They are compounded not of the drugs themselves, but of the medicinal virtues only of Vegetable remedies, extracted by chemical process, in a state of purity and combined together in such a manner as to insure the best result. This system of composition for medicines has been found in the Cherry Pectoral and Pills both to produce a more efficient remedy than had hitherto been obtained by any process. The reason is perfectly obvious. While by the old mode of composition every medicine is burdened with more or less of acrimonious and injurious qualities, by this, each individual virtue only that is desired for the curative effect is present. All the inert and obnoxious qualities of each substance employed are left behind, the curative virtues only being retained. Hence it is self-evident the effects should prove as they have proved more purely remedial, and the Pills a surer, more powerful antidote to disease than any other medicine known to the world.

As it is frequently expedient that my medicine should be taken under the counsel of an attending Physician, and as he could not properly judge of a remedy without knowing its composition, I have supplied the accurate Formulæ by which both my Pectoral and Pills are made to the whole body of Practitioners in the United States and British American Provinces. If however there should be any one who has not received them, they will be promptly forwarded by mail to his address.

Of all the Patent Medicines that are offered, how few would be taken if their composition was known! Their life consists in their mystery. I have no mysteries.

The composition of my preparations is laid open to all men, and all who are competent to judge on the subject, freely acknowledge their convictions of their intrinsic merits. The Cherry Pectoral was pronounced, by scientific men to be a wonderful medicine before its effects were known. Many eminent Physicians have declared the same thing of my Pills, and even more confidently, and are willing to certify that their anticipations were more than realized by their effects upon trial.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Being sugar wrapped they are pleasant to take, and being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

For minute directions, see the wrapper on the Box.

WILBOR'S COMPOUND OF PURE COD LIVER OIL AND LIME.

THIS valuable medicine which has received the sanction of the medical faculty, is what it is regularly prescribed, and which has been used successfully by thousands of invalids, is one the most remarkable preparations ever offered to the public for the cure of

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, COUGH, ASTHMA, BRONCHITES, SPITTING BLOOD AND ALL COMPLAINTS OF THE LUNGS.

Pure Cod Liver Oil has long been acknowledged to be the most efficacious article for the cure of Consumption and kindred diseases yet discovered, while the chemical properties of the PHATE OF LIME are also well known to be one of peculiarly healing. In cases where ulceration has taken place on the lungs, the article has been found by the most careful tests to supply the very ingredients necessary for the formation of cells and the complete healing of the delicate part of the human system.

This preparation of the pure Cod Liver Oil and Lime robs the oil of its very nauseous taste, which renders it so repulsive to many persons, while the thorough incorporation of the Phosphate of Lime with the Oil has only been made possible by the adoption of the most perfect rule of chemistry, and a medicine has thereby been produced which is of inestimable value to a climate like our own.

A long array of certificates might be given here to prove the efficacious character of this medicine but it is not deemed necessary. The fact that from the very first introduction of the Cod Liver Oil and Lime before the public it has been gradually adopted by the medical faculty is sufficient proof of its unquestioned excellence.
